

HIDDEN EPOCH · FIELD GUIDE · VOL. I

7 Books
the Vatican doesn't want you reading

+ 1 BONUS BOOK

HIDDENEPOCH.COM

The Bible you read today is not the Bible the early church read.

Between 364 AD and 1546 AD, the institutional church removed at least fourteen books from the canon that had circulated for centuries among Jewish and early Christian communities. Some were declared heretical at the Council of Laodicea in 364. Others were quietly dropped after the Council of Trent in 1546. A few were rediscovered only in the twentieth century — sealed in clay jars in the Egyptian desert at Nag Hammadi in 1945, or in caves above the Dead Sea in 1947.

These books were not lost. They were buried.

What follows are seven of them. Each one survives. Each one contradicts the official story in a specific, traceable way. And each one was kept out of your Bible by a deliberate human decision, made by a specific council, in a specific year, for a specific reason.

You are about to read what they removed.

BOOK ONE

The Book of Enoch

Original name: 1 Enoch (Ge'ez: ሙጽሐፈ ነክ · Maṣḥafa Hēnok)

Composed: circa 300 BCE - 100 BCE

Status: Excluded from Western canon at Laodicea, 364 AD. Retained in the Ethiopian Orthodox Bible to this day.

KEY PASSAGE · 1 ENOCH 6:1-6

"And it came to pass when the children of men had multiplied that in those days were born unto them beautiful daughters. And the angels, the children of heaven, saw and lusted after them, and said one to another: 'Come, let us choose us wives from among the children of men.' Then they all swore together and bound themselves by mutual imprecations upon Mount Hermon."

WHY IT WAS REMOVED

The Book of Enoch names two hundred angels who descended to Earth, took human wives, and fathered the Nephilim — the giants Genesis 6:4 mentions but never explains. Enoch names the leader Semjaza, names Azazel as the angel who taught humans metallurgy and warfare, and gives a complete catalog of forbidden knowledge transmitted from heaven to earth. The early church needed Genesis 6 to remain vague. Enoch made it specific.

HIDDEN EPOCH · COMMENTARY

The Book of Enoch is quoted directly in Jude 14-15 of the New Testament. The same New Testament that

BOOK TWO

The Book of Jubilees

Original name: Lesser Genesis (Hebrew: ספר היובלים · Sēfer ha-Yōvēlīm)

Composed: circa 160 BCE - 150 BCE

Status: Excluded from Western and Eastern canons. Retained in the Ethiopian Orthodox Bible.

KEY PASSAGE · JUBILEES 5:1-2

"And it came to pass when the children of men began to multiply on the face of the earth and daughters were born unto them, that the angels of God saw them on a certain year of this jubilee, that they were beautiful to look upon; and they took themselves wives of all whom they chose, and they bare unto them sons and they were giants. And lawlessness increased on the earth and all flesh corrupted its way."

WHY IT WAS REMOVED

Jubilees rewrites Genesis with explicit dates, an exact angelic hierarchy, and a calendar of fallen-angel transgressions. It names the watchers, dates the Nephilim emergence to a specific jubilee year, and assigns specific sins to specific named beings. It also reorganizes the early biblical timeline using a 364-day solar calendar — directly contradicting the Hebrew lunar calendar that became standard. The church could not reconcile two different calendars in scripture. Jubilees lost.

BOOK THREE

The Book of Jasher

Original name: Sefer haYashar (Hebrew: ספר הישר · Book of the Upright)

Composed: Version histories disputed; cited in Joshua 10:13 and 2 Samuel 1:18 as already ancient by 1000 BCE

Status: The Bible references it twice as authoritative, then never includes it.

KEY PASSAGE · JASHER 4:18

"And their judges and rulers went to the daughters of men and took their wives by force from their husbands according to their choice, and the sons of men in those days took from the cattle of the earth, the beasts of the field and the fowls of the air, and taught the mixture of animals of one species with the other, in order therewith to provoke the Lord."

WHY IT WAS REMOVED

Joshua 10:13 and 2 Samuel 1:18 explicitly cite the Book of Jasher as a source for events recorded in the canonical Bible. The compilers of the canon kept the references but excluded the source. Jasher contains detailed accounts of pre-flood civilization, the violations of Genesis 6 in full narrative, and specific events of the Exodus that the canonical text glosses over.

HIDDEN EPOCH · COMMENTARY

The Bible cites Jasher by name as a source. The same Bible then refuses to include it. This is not an accident. When a referenced source contradicts the official narrative, you keep the citation and remove

BOOK FOUR

The Gospel of Thomas

Original name: πεγαγγελιον πικατα θωμας (Coptic)

Composed: circa 60 CE - 140 CE, possibly earliest of all Gospels

Status: Buried in a clay jar at Nag Hammadi, Egypt circa 367 AD. Recovered 1945 by Mohammed Ali al-Samman. Never included in any official canon.

KEY PASSAGE · LOGION 3

"Jesus said: If those who lead you say to you: See, the Kingdom is in heaven, then the birds of the heaven will be before you. If they say to you: It is in the sea, then the fish will be before you. But the Kingdom is within you, and it is outside of you. When you know yourselves, then shall you be known, and you shall know that you are the sons of the living Father."

WHY IT WAS REMOVED

The Gospel of Thomas is 114 sayings of Jesus with no narrative, no crucifixion, no resurrection — only direct teaching. It presents salvation as inward knowledge, not institutional sacrament. If salvation is inside you, you don't need a priest. If you don't need a priest, you don't need a church. The 367 AD Festal Letter of Athanasius, which set the New Testament canon at exactly the 27 books we still use today, made the Coptic monks at Nag Hammadi bury their library in clay jars in the desert. The Gospel of Thomas was inside.

BOOK FIVE

The Gospel of Mary Magdalene

Original name: Πευαγγελιον κατα Μαρια (Coptic)

Composed: circa 120 CE - 180 CE

Status: Two Greek fragments survive (Oxyrhynchus papyri); Coptic translation in the Berlin Codex purchased 1896.

Excluded from all canonical lists.

KEY PASSAGE · GOSPEL OF MARY 5:5-8

"Peter said to Mary: 'Sister, we know that the Savior loved you more than the rest of women. Tell us the words of the Savior which you remember — which you know but we do not, nor have we heard them.' Mary answered: 'What is hidden from you I will proclaim to you.' And she said: 'I saw the Lord in a vision and I said to him: Lord, I saw you today in a vision. He answered: Blessed are you that you did not waver at the sight of me.'"

WHY IT WAS REMOVED

Mary Magdalene received private teachings from Jesus that the male disciples did not. In the same Gospel, Peter doubts whether Jesus would have spoken privately to a woman; Levi defends her. The text portrays Mary as the most spiritually advanced disciple, the one entrusted with the secret teaching. The early church needed Peter as the rock the church was built on. A Gospel where Peter argues with the Savior's preferred disciple — a woman — undermined that foundation.

BOOK SIX

The Gospel of Philip

Original name: πεγαγγελιον πικατα φιλιππος (Coptic)

Composed: circa 200 CE - 350 CE

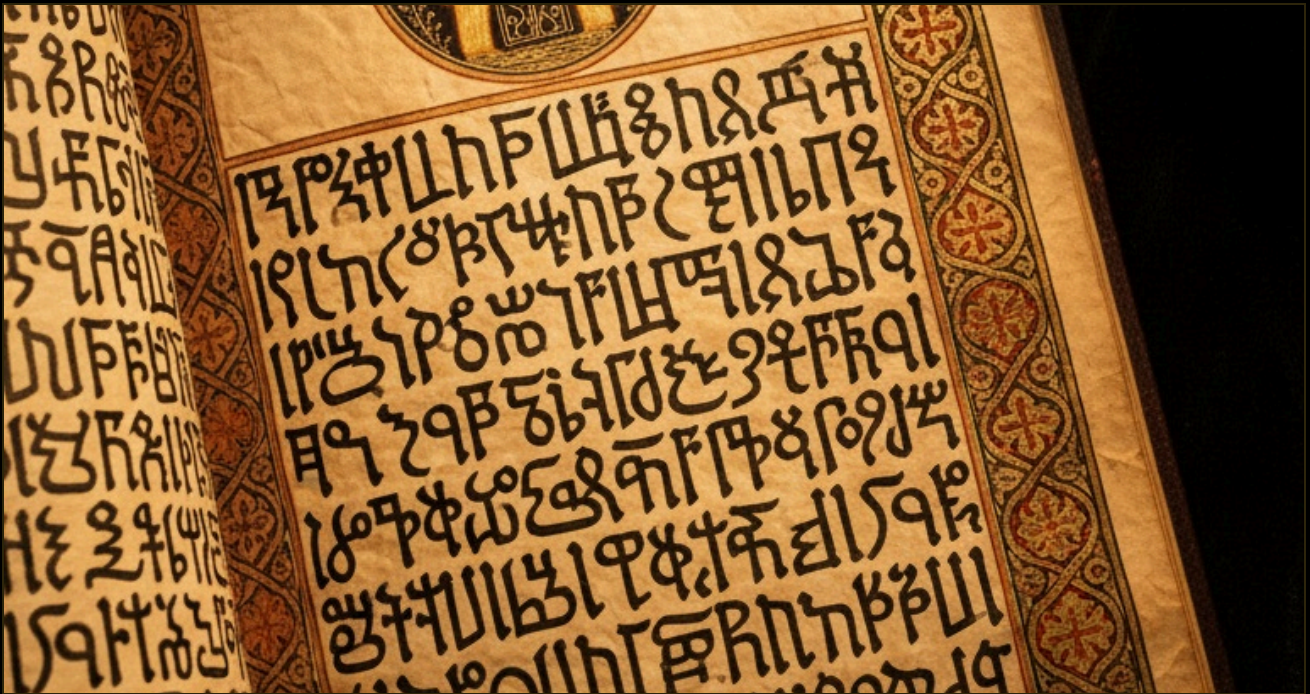

Status: Recovered at Nag Hammadi 1945. Never included in any canon.

KEY PASSAGE · GOSPEL OF PHILIP 63-64

"There were three who always walked with the Lord: Mary his mother and her sister and Mary Magdalene, the one who was called his companion. His sister and his mother and his companion were each a Mary. And the companion of the Savior is Mary Magdalene. Christ loved her more than all the disciples, and used to kiss her often on her mouth. The rest of the disciples were offended by it. They said to him: 'Why do you love her more than all of us?' The Savior answered: 'When a blind man and one who sees are both together in darkness, they are no different from one another.'"

WHY IT WAS REMOVED

The Gospel of Philip explicitly names Mary Magdalene as "the companion" of Jesus — using the Coptic loanword koinōnos which can mean spouse, partner, or intimate associate. The text also describes a sacramental "bridal chamber" rite that the proto-orthodox church had no place for. The 367 AD Festal Letter that canonized our New Testament also condemned the Nag Hammadi library by name. The Coptic monks responded by burying it.

BOOK SEVEN

The First Book of Adam and Eve

Original name: First Book of Adam and Eve (Ge'ez and Slavonic recensions)

Composed: circa 200 BCE - 100 CE

Status: Excluded from all Western canons. Retained in Ethiopian Orthodox and East Slavic Orthodox traditions.

KEY PASSAGE · 1 ADAM AND EVE 53:1-9

"When Adam and Eve came out of the Garden, they trod the ground on their feet, not knowing they were treading. And when they came to the open country, and to much rough walking, they fainted and fell upon the ground from weakness. After a while, when they came to themselves, Adam stood up and prayed to God, saying: 'O God, when we dwelt in the Garden, our prayers came up to thee like incense; and our bodies were not as they are now, but lighter and brighter, like stars. Now thou hast cast us out into this strange land, and our nature is changed.'"

WHY IT WAS REMOVED

The Book of Adam and Eve fills in the entire post-Eden narrative that Genesis skips. It describes Adam and Eve's "lighter and brighter" pre-fall bodies — meaning their physical nature changed at the moment of expulsion. It records detailed conversations with God after the Fall. It names the specific demons who tormented them. The book made the Genesis story too specific for the church's allegorical preferences.

This one was too important to leave out. It's the source of every image of hell you've ever been shown — and it's not in your Bible.

BONUS BOOK

The Apocalypse of Peter

Original name: Αποκάλυψις Πέτρου (Greek)

Composed: circa 100 CE - 150 CE

Status: Initially canonical in the Muratorian Fragment 170 AD. Removed by the time of the Festal Letter of Athanasius 367 AD.

KEY PASSAGE · APOCALYPSE OF PETER 21-24

"And I saw also another place over against that one, very gloomy; and this was the place of punishment, and they that were there punished and the punishing angels had their raiment dark like the air of the place. And there were certain there hanging by the tongue: and these were the blasphemers of the way of righteousness; and under them was laid fire flaming and tormenting them. And there was a great lake, full of flaming mire, wherein were certain men that turn away from righteousness; and angels, tormentors, were set over them."

WHY IT WAS REMOVED

The Apocalypse of Peter is the earliest detailed description of hell in Christian literature — more vivid, more graphic, and more specifically itemized than anything in Matthew, Revelation, or any canonical

You just read seven. There are seven more.

The full Hidden Epoch Field Guide includes annotated texts plus seven additional removed books, each tied to a specific council and year.

NEXT LEVEL · FULL EDITION

The Complete 14 Books Removed From Your Bible

Apocalypse of Adam · Book of the Watchers · Apocryphon of John · Apocalypse of Paul · Gospel of Judas · Acts of Thomas · Apocryphon of James — plus the seven you just read, with full annotated source texts and Hidden Epoch commentary.

GET THE FULL EDITION — $27.99

FREE · EVERY NIGHT

The Investigation Archive

A new written investigation publishes on the site every night — the full story behind each reel, with every source named and linked. Read what the algorithm won't show you.

READ THE ARCHIVE

The Vatican didn't remove these books because they were lies.

They removed them because they were too specific.

Now you have them.

— HIDDEN EPOCH

Sources cited: R.H. Charles (1902, 1917 translations of Enoch and Jubilees), Mordecai Manuel Noah (1840 Jasher translation), Nag Hammadi Library (English) edited by James M. Robinson 1977, Solomon Caesar Malan (1882 Adam and Eve translation), Berlin Codex (Wessely 1903 transcription). All source texts are public domain. Commentary © Hidden Epoch 2026.